Importance of Prune Pool Stressed Here At Grange Meeting

Discussion of the future of the United Prune Pool was one of the major topics at the regular business meeting of the Orchard City grange Tuesday night. W. W. Lestter, one of the directors, summed up the pool's present problems.

"On May 16," he emphasized, "the sign-up for the pool ends. There can be no extension of time, according to the contract, and if the necessary 6,800 tons are not obtained, the pool will be dissolved and the prune farmers will find themselves in a disastrous situation."

Reporting a directors' meeting in San Francisco, Mr. Lester stated that at present about 55,000 tons of last year's crop are on hand, but that many of the packers have exhausted their supply and are demanding more shipments. An estimate of the 1933 crop has shown that it will be about 110 or 115 per cent of that of last year.

Prices set for the last shipments of prunes to the packers, according to Mr. Lester, are as follows: 30's, the same; 40's up 1-8 cent; 50's, same; 60's, up 1-4 cent; 70's, up 12 cent; 80's, up 1-4 cent, and 90's, up 1-4 cent.

S. N. Hedegard, speaking of the prune pool, said that the situation was peculiar in that everyone had confidence in its success and everyone waited for the next fellow to sign, feeling sure his signature was not necessary. He added that the organization has proven itself successful in every way during the last year, and has satisfied members, the trade, and packers. If the pool should fail, all the fruit growers and all the merchants of the state would be seriously affected, he added.

E. K. Clendening, chairman of the local drive, stated that the prune pool was an ideal organization and that farmers who objected to slow payments should remember that the credit system is the basis of modern business and should not expect to be the only ones receiving immediate cash for their goods. He said prune growers refusing to join the pool were avoiding it for selfish reasons. The need for volunteer workers, in signing up growers, is great, Mr. Clendening declared, and asked for help.

Harry Barnes, reporting the fact that merchants and civic organizations, as well as bankers, were being asked to aid in the campaign, said that each person should endeavor to influence his neighbors in the cause. He said a very good reason for cooperative marketing was that merchants will not buy appreciably of any product whose price is not stabilized, since loss of money is possible.

A discussion of the value of walnuts and the methods of growing them was launched by Lloyd Gardner of the farm and orchard committee. Roadside seedlings, if properly cultivated, will be profitable, he reported. If they are not cared for, diseases will start and other trees may be affected. The time of pruning the trees was questioned, and Harry Mitchell stated that growers disagreed on the subject and that most any time was satisfactory, since the bleeding of the trees is not injurious. Harry Barnes reported success in grafting walnut trees by cutting off one limb below the limbs to be grafted. This limb alone would bleed, he said, leaving the others properly dry for grafting.

Reports of the work of the schools of the community were made by Mrs. Mark Purmort, Mrs. Harry Mitchell, Mrs. H. A. Butts, Mark Purmort, and Lloyd Gardner, who visited the schools during Public Schools Week.

A welcome visitor Tuesday night was R. M. Atkinson, master of Almaden grange. He was accompanied by his wife and three other Almaden members.

After the business meeting Robert Bruner displayed motion pictures stressing the importance of safe and careful driving of automobiles.

"Douglas Plan" Is Topic of Hillyard At Kiwanis Lunch

S. N. Hedegard was chairman of the Kiwanis luncheon meeting Tuesday noon. The speaker was Sidney Hillyard, economics teacher at the Los Gatos high school.

Mr. Hillyard gave a complete and very interesting talk on the "Douglas Plann." Major Douglas of England, thought of this plan 25 years ago, according to Mr. Hillyard, and later discussed it with his comrades while in the trenches during the World war. Now it is being taken up and discussed all over the world.

The theorem, stated Mr. Hillyard, is expressed in two different parts, A and B. A represents the total spending power of each worker on any given article. B represents the total over-head costs of the article. The social credit which is established by the difference between A and B will be carried by national credit.

The term national dividend was used to describe the inheritance right of every individual born. Based upon the fact that our progenitors produced the civilization in which we live, every person born is naturally an heir. This will overcome displacement of labor by machinery with retirement from actual labor of the individual worker at an earlier age, the support coming from national dividends, he said.

Mr. Hillyard's talk was very interesting and many club members are looking further into this plan, as they believe it to be a good and sound one.

B. O. Curry, who is celebrating his 81st birthday was given cards by all the members and a huge birthday cake made by his daughter, and three bouquets of roses were also presented to him at this meeting.

Ralph H. Hyde will be chairman of next Tuesday's meeting, and Joseph McKinnon will talk on "County Zoning and Proposed Charter."

Extension of Time In Prune Sign-up Not To Be Granted

Upon the results obtained between now and next Tuesday by leading growers, working in every prune district of the state, depends the fate of the industry stabilization plan as represented by the United Prune Growers of California.

Up to Tuesday evening, May 9, tonnage signed was 4,215 tons of the 11,000 additional tons required by May 16, when the official audit is to be made. Directors and officers of the California Prune and Apricot Growers association and the California Prune Pool are reorganizing their field forces for a concentrated final drive to save the industry organization, in which they have joined the tonnage they control for the purpose of maintaining fair prices through control of supply.

"In spite of the disappointing results since the campaign for the additional tonnage began April 1, we still believe we have a reasonable chance of bringing up the United's control to the required 80 per cent during these final days," said Hugh Hersman, president of the United.

"Frankly we are counting upon obvious self-interest on the part of the outside growers to lead them to join with us now. They all know of the United's success in stabilizing prices at higher levels and in moving the crop so that no carryover to the 1933 crop year is in prospect if the industry plan continues inoperation. It must be apparent to all that unsigned growers cannot afford to take a chance on failure of the industry plan by remaining on the outside with the hope of some possible individual benefit."

During the last few days, it was announced that the Harter Packing company of Yuba City had signed their tonnage into the California Prune Pool and had joined the United as participating packers. Their action in signing a packer's contract with the United, it was announced, makes the packers' participation in the stabilization plan practically 100 per cent complete. This means that every ton of California prunes marketed will pay the full advertising and sales promotion charge, whether produced by growers inside or outside of the Pool or association.

Another very considerable block of tonnage was signed into the California Prune Pool by California Lands, Inc., this week. All of the tonnage under control of this big organization has been signed, it was announced.

Congressmen Lea, McGrath and Buck, from principal prune growing districts of California, joined a strong endorsement of the stabilization plan this week in a message sent from Washington.

As the sign-up campaign draws to a close, added assistance is being given by the California Farm Bureau federation, the agricultural etension service of the University of California, banks, the state department of agriculture, prominent business men and others.

Officers of the United reiterated their positive statement that there can and will be no etension of the sign-up period beyond next Tuesday, May 16.

Current Comment

President Roosevelt has been fortunate so far in his dealings with congress and has been successful in getting more power delegated to him from that august body than any other chief executive in the peace time history of the United States. There are indications however that breakers are ahead and that these will be encountered in discussing the international situation rather than in domestic affairs if there is any change in our international policies.

Just what form the opposition may take remains to be seen. If there is to be a postponement of the allied war debt payments due in June, or a scaling down of war debts, it will not be accomplished without a great deal of airing of the situation in Congress. And if the administration decides on a "consultative pact" as France and some of the other powers would like to have it do, there will be plenty of fireworks in the senate.

According to Washington dispatches many senators are already discussing privately in a decidedly hostile way any proposed shifts in our international policy. One prominent administration senator is quoted by the Universal News service as stating that "harmony will fly out of the window if the President asks authority to revise the debts."

It is said that among others, Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, who supported President Roosevelt in the last election is prepared to fight any move for revision and that he would be joined by other senators of both political parties. Senator Lewis of Illinois is one of the Democratic leaders said to be strongly opposed to debt revision.

A move for consultative pact in the interest of the French, in case they get in trouble in Europe again will also be vigorously opposed in the senate by those who are opposed to Uncle Sam's meddling into the affairs of Europe. In this respect Senator Robinson of Indiana is quoted as saying:

"We will fight it out all summer, and all winter, if necessary, before we will ever agree to debt revision, or to any plan to pull French chestnuts out of the fire in Europe through the so-called consultative pact."

ELECTRIC RANGES cook automatically without watching... without attention

MODERN LIVING demands that women be much more than cooks and kitchen toilers. They must have freedom from pot-watching and oven-peeking. Life is less simple today. There are so many worth-while advantages open for the use of leisure.

How essential it is, in creating this freedom, in giving this worth-while leisure, to have the aid of an electric range.

Here is the most modern of cooking appliances, always ready to cook whole dinners automatically. Every cooking operation for a whole dinner? Yes, every step for a perfect, precision-cooked dinner.

Put the roast and potatoes in the bottom of a roomy pan; more vegetables in other pans; and then apples or pudding for dessert. All go into the oven of the electric range at the same time. Now set the electric time control if you wish the cooking to begin hours or even half a day later. Set the temperature control and your dinner will cook itself. There is modern living and simplified cooking for you!

Why not make certain now with summer at hand to have the service and all the cooking advantages that the electric range brings into the kitchen. See and select the model for your home at the nearest P. G. and E. office or at your dealer's.

You can afford it, prices are low and purchase terms are within the reach of every family budget.

LOCAL GROWERS RALLY TO AID OF PRUNE POOL

An enthusiastic and well attended rally was held at the grammar school auditorium Monday evening by the growers and backers of the prune pool.

The meeting was called for the purpose of acquainting growers and business men with the need of getting the remaining tons signed up in the prune pool drive. Approximately 7,000 tons are needed and but five days remain for signing up.

The growers at this meeting were impressively addressed by Hugh Hersman, president of the United Pool.

S. N. Hedegard, prominent rancher and real estate man of Campbell, praised the committee workers and urged growers to sign up, as the pool was the organization that stood in the way of consignment buying and the eventual collapse of the prune industry.

E. K. Clendenning was chairman of the meeting. Other rallies are being held all over the county in an effort to bring forth the necessary tonnage.

Tax Reform Seen In Amendment 30 Says Von Ellsworth

San Francisco, May 10—The enactment of senate constitutional amendment No. 30 has brought to a successful conclusion a long and bitterly contested move for tax reforms, according to Von T. Ellsworth, head of the research department and tax advisor for the California Farm Bureau federation and that organization's representative at the state legislature on this issue.

"This measure as adopted truly represents the product of the legislature," said Ellsworth. "It was unanimously adopted by the senate and, as passed by the assembly, represented the combined product of a committee consisting of seven members of each house and the authors of the original measure.

"Many of the objectionable features of the original bill have been replaced by provisions representing more mature thought, and will operate more to the welfare of the state at large. The present mandatory county taes for elementary and high schools is eliminated. The change in no way increases or decreases the amount of revenue for schools, but merely transfers the burden to the state. The original provision providing for a gross receipts ta has been replaced by a general grant of taxing power to the legislature, with two limitations of taxing power: (1) that not more than 25 per cent of the total state appropriations shall come from property tax and, (2) that public utilities be taxed as other properties and businesses.

The legislature is therefore at liberty to adopt any new tax or adjust existing taxes as it sees fit. Provision is made for the repeal of amendment No. 1 adopted in 1910 and creating California's tax separation system. When this measure comes to the people at the special election next month, we believe it will have the undivided support of the public as a whole.

"In the Neighborhood"

THINK OF THE HOURS each week that people save who transact their banking business at a nearby branch of the American Trust Company.

Those hours are working hours . . . money-making hours. In a very real sense they constitute a saving for the merchants, businessmen and professional men who use this bank.

The many offices of the American Trust Company place banking facilities "in your neighborhood" almost anywhere in the Bay Area. And yet, being concentrated in the Bay Area, our branches can be operated under the close control of the head office.

Thus does this 79 year old bank offer the protection of centralized banking, plus the modern convenience of branch banking.

We invite you to call at our nearest branch.
